OVER THE OCEAN.

England.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The disturbances created by the unemployed persons who frequent Trafalgar Square still continue. In addition to those arrested yesterday six other men have been taken into custody. The police are preventing any demonstration being made, and are scattering the mob. A number of the rioters who were arrested yesterday have been imprisoned. A number of unemployed workmen also met in Hyde Park today for the purpose of making a demonstration. A squad of mounted police rode among the crowd and a collision occurred. The mob, after a serious conflict, drove the police back.

The opening of the Liberal campaign of Nottingham, today, was a great affair. Mr. Gladstone said he would tell them plainly that he was not there to say smooth things. It was a deplorable fact that the settling of the Irish question, which might have been settled last year, had there been a disposition to discuss it in a spirit of candor and fairness, had been again set aside and was still pending, its difficulties aggravated and its prospects uncertain. He had always told the conservatives that the choice lay between concord and home rule. The conservatives had told them that home rule was an idle dream, but events had shown that it was not. A coroner bill had been passed against combinations, against the liberty of the press and the right of public meeting, and against crime. The Irish people were now a grave and serious one and it continued it would drive Ireland into such a state that the difficulties of the government would become almost insurmountable. He declared that he proposed home rule simply to advance liberal interests. It was doubtful, he said, whether the Tories accepted home rule to its broad principles in the same way that they accepted his proposals in 1879 and 1883. He wanted a statutory parliament in Dublin, subject to imperial control. There was nothing to prevent any reasonable man from agreeing with the liberal Irish proposals without reference to this or that particular or detail. The immediate necessity of the day was to watch the way in which Ireland was now governed. If the government persisted in their rash and foolish policy, it would naturally lead to political demoralization and render it in the highest degree difficult, even for Englishmen and a parliament truly representing their best and most enlightened conclusions, to deal rapidly and beneficially with Ireland. Only one word could describe the present system of Irish government. It was "impertinence." The events of the last few weeks in Ireland would not have been tolerated in England. He condemned the action of the authorities at Mitchelstown. He admitted having used the words, "Remember Mitchelstown." This affair must not be remembered. The country had to account to settle with the government in connection with that affair. The Mitchelstown authorities were undoubtedly wrong, yet Mr. Balfour, in behalf of the government, assumed the responsibility for their acts. There it was, the action of the authorities there had become a model and pattern for the whole of Ireland. The whole system of government in Ireland required to be thoroughly reformed, root and branch. There had been a break down in the government in a radical change was wanted and such a change an enfranchised nation alone could accomplish. [Cheers.]

France.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—Gen. Boulanger has received thousands of missives from all parts of France expressing sympathy for him. Demonstration in his favor have been made in "Nimes" on the occasion of the opening of the college there by M. Spuler, minister of public instruction. They shouted "Vive Boulanger," and bands played Boulanger's march. The G. u. l. s. say: Judicial inquiry proved that Gen. Cofferai was not guilty of the charge of trafficking in decorations.

Killed, but How?

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 15.—Bert Chandler, a printer who had been working in the daily Leader office of this city for some time, was killed near Nichols Junction, on the K. C. S. & M. R. R., yesterday. He was found on the track with his head severed from his body. His head had evidently been cut off by the cars. Whether he had been on the track, or had been killed and placed on the track, or had been killed by the train, is not known. He left this city on foot yesterday for the west in company with another printer, and in a few hours word was received here by telegraph from his companion that he had been killed by the cars. Only a small sum of money was found with the body, although it is known he had quite a little sum with him when he left this city.

At the first inquest the engineer and fireman of the train which ran over Chandler, testified that his companion, G. H. Frederick, endeavored to board the train some distance from where the body was lying (the train was in the act of stopping) and was prevented by the engineer; that he then asked the question, "Did you kill that man down the track?" It was also developed in the testimony that there was a pool of blood several feet from the track between which and the blood on the track there was no connection. Frederick's statement on returning to this city, as he did after telegraphing, was that he first learned of the death of his companion from the trainman when they overtook him at Nichols. There is considerable mystery surrounding the case, which it will require further investigation to clear. The verdict of the coroner's jury is simply that Chandler came to his death from being run over by the cars. The remains will be sent to Ottawa, Kas., where the parents of the deceased reside.

Arrested for Murder.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 15.—A Times special from Winfield, Kas., says that E. J. Wilber, a prominent capitalist and politician of that place, is under arrest on the charge of murder in the first degree. Some time ago a man named Vancleve was murdered. A suspicion pointed to Wilber, who was said to have been intimate with Mrs. Vancleve. The arrest today was made on the strength of a confession by a negro who says that Wilber hired him to do the killing. There is much excitement over the affair which is very mysterious.

Prisoners Escape.

BOONVILLE, Mo., Oct. 15.—Considerable excitement was occasioned about 8 o'clock tonight by three prisoners making their escape from jail. They knocked down Mr. Maupin, who was placing a negro in jail. The alarm was given and 100 persons were in pursuit of the fugitives in less than five minutes. One of the prisoners was overtaken and brought back by Capt. Smith. The parties are in pursuit of the other two.

HOLTON, Oct. 15.—At today's session of the Women's Suffrage convention the question of presidential suffrage for women and a suffrage amendment to the constitution were discussed by Miss Anthony and others. The general sentiment seemed to be against presidential suffrage and heartily in favor of a sixteenth amendment. Tonight Miss Anthony is addressing a large audience and paying her regards to Senator Ingalls and his Forum article.

W. R. Baxter, a prominent stock man of Cherokee, has been missing for several days. He took a car load of cattle to Kansas City, for which he received $1,500, and has not returned, and his friends can get no information of his whereabouts. The question is whether he has been foully dealt with or skipped out to evade his debts, of which he owes a large number. Yesterday his creditors attached all his property left behind.

Wrecked Seamen Returned.
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Howard, Minnott, of Canton, Ill., and W. S. Hopewell, of San Francisco, two young shipwrecked seamen, arrived at Castle Garden this afternoon on the steamer Queen. They shipped from Philadelphia, August 18, on the bark Oslia. There were nineteen souls aboard, including the Captain's wife. On the 22nd of September a tidal wave struck the vessel 500 miles east of New Foundland. Their boats were carried away and four men washed overboard. Two water tanks in being swept overboard crushed three men, one of whom died of his injuries. The others are in the hospital now. The vessel drifted for thirty hours, when a Norwegian steamer bound for Lisbon, Portugal, took them aboard and the Oslia was abandoned. They were sent to Liverpool by the American consul.

The Whisky Distillers.
LOUISVILLE, Oct. 15.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Kentucky Distillers' Association in this city today a motion requiring the chairman to date the articles of agreement adopted several months ago, and deliver the same to the trustee, Mr. Beckurts, was adopted. The articles bind the distillers to sign not to produce any whisky during the coming distilling season ending July, 1888. A complete list of the signers will be forwarded to all the distillers in the United States. The committee claims that 85 per cent of the producing capacity of the state is now bound by the agreement, and are confident that an advance in the price of whisky will soon take place as a result of their work.

To Reinforce Fort Snelling.
ST. PAUL, Oct. 15.—General Sheridan reached St. Paul this morning and proceeded at once to Fort Snelling, where he will make an investigation into the proposed enlargement of the post at the fort. There are now four companies and a battery of artillery there, and the general thinks it advisable to increase the number of companies to twelve. If this is positively decided upon General Sheridan will urge Congress to appropriate the necessary funds. Incidental to this conference, an investigation will probably be made into the trouble between the Crow and Cheyenne Indians of Montana.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Fire broke out tonight in the millinery house of Barney Lambey & Co. in the center of the business of the city.
